1.1 Small Business – Meliora Media, Retail Store – Pop cultured

2.1 Organization Overview

Name: Meliora Media

Meliora Media is a Small Business based in Malvern that specializes in capturing video footage, editing, and voice-over advertisements of various retail businesses such as restaurant owners. They've been getting their name out by means of social media like Instagram and TikTok. They communicate over WhatsApp. They get steady work however they would like to legitimize themselves by having their own bespoke website to create a central presence where they can be easily contacted.

Website Goals and Objectives

- Legitimize the business and brand
- Create an easy way to reach the company without having to contact the sole person behind their social media accounts which can improve response times.
- Give the user a solid opinion of the organization
- Make the experience as seamless and visually arresting as possible to imprint a strong brand image and increase customer retention.
- Create a backend system that can log transactions and interactions to measure KPI

Current Website Analysis

Meliora Media currently has no website, the company gets its name out via Instagram and TikTok with photos and videos showcasing their prowess at photography, colour grading, and the psychology marketing, they have a well-made logo with a colour design that's synergistic with their advertisements in places like the subtitles.

Having a website will be able to leave a more tailored experience to Meliora Media's brand and a more intuitive user experience.

Proposed Website Features and Functionality

The website could have a front page that puts the services Meliora Media offers front and centre (professional video shoots with drones, editing, voice over- general advertisement creation) with a contact button on it that sends a CC'd email to the company email address to notify all employees. An about us page can also be made to demonstrate the company history and some of their credentials and companies they've contributed advertising to bolster their legitimacy.

Design and User Experience

Meliora Media has a purple and white logo

The colour design of the website should reflect this; it's a striking combination against a sea of black and white websites, the high contrast between the two will help colour blind users to identify the page.

I think the font Magneto is a good choice for headings as it complements the cursive "m" in the logo and for bodies of text something more readable such as Angsana New would work well as it's easily legible while having a premium look.

The design will take a centralised approach as there's not much information to pack into the website, we can have the main body of the page front and centre with a navigation bar always in view which is good for simplicity and accessibility, perhaps a box in the middle of the page with a background image of some of Meliora's photography and the text in the middle describing services etc.

Technical Requirements

The website domain will be <https://melioramedia.co.za> which can denote it as a South African business, a domain host like xneelo could register the domain for use.

The site will be created in HTML at it's core as per standard website creation, and use CSS to style it at a later point with fonts and more robust frames. JavaScript will be used at the end to add the finishing touch like transitions and animations.

Timeline and Milestones

The website will be developed over a 3 month period as dictated by Emeris

Budget

The upfront cost of developing the website will be about R10,000

Hosting the website will cost about R100 a month and R1200 annually with xneelo

Maintenance of the website based on a per contract basis will cost about R1000 every time the website needs to be updated to add in a major element.
